

MARVELOUS!

MARVELOUS!

President
Suminobu Sato

Delivering our “fun things” to the world

Today, as a company engaged in the entertainment business, we live on the experience of the many “fun things” our forerunners have created and provided to us.

The joy of enjoying these fun things has great power in making our lives more fulfilling and providing some of life’s pleasures.

The mission and social contribution of Marvelous Inc. are to deliver quality content to people around the world by continuing our exploration of these fun things and focusing on manufacturing.

We also believe that the company’s continued growth and development of human resources will contribute to creating the future of the entertainment industry.

In June 2022, Marvelous Inc. marked the 25th anniversary of its founding. Aiming for even greater heights, we will work toward becoming an entertainment company in which everyone places confidence with high expectations that “because it’s Marvelous, it will be fun!”

DIGITAL CONTENTS

Developing games using original IPs and other leading IPs for a variety of platforms.

| Game Software

We are engaged in the planning, development, production, marketing, and commission-based development of game software for home-use game machines. The continuous expansion of serialized products is part of our work as much as the creation of new proprietary IP suitable for media mixing and merchandising. Other activities include content production in tune with market requirements, for example, promotion of the network business. Moreover, we maintain development frameworks capable of accommodating also new kinds of hardware that may emerge in the future. The commission-based development business, which covers the entire width of game development operations, has accumulated an ample track record and enjoys a sterling reputation.

| Online Game

We are engaged in the planning, development, and operation of online games for App Store, Google Play, and SNS platforms. In order to provide the rapidly evolving online game market quickly and consistently with buzz-worthy content, we are engaged in proactive development efforts through alliances with other IPs in addition to our own.

By promoting multi-use of original IP produced by Marvelous and multi-device compatibility of products for PC, mobile, smartphone, tablet and other devices, we work to diversify revenue streams.

AUDIO & VISUAL

Developing a wide range of diverse content for music, video and live entertainment markets

| Audio & Visual

We continue to discover highly buzz-worthy content and are engaged in the creation and production of animation products, and the creation and commercialization of music and video content. We have also been focusing on the music and video content distribution business as well as the business operations surrounding secondary usage of content such as the sale of overseas programs.

| Live Entertainment

We are engaged in the planning, producing, and promoting of stage productions and musicals based on manga comics, animation, and games (2.5 dimension musical production). Our operations include the creating and developing of popular long-sellers, and proactively promoting adaptations from stage productions to other media, such as the commercialization of music and video, distribution, the production of original merchandise, and the showing of live performances.

| iGi indie Game incubator (iGi iggy)

Organized by Marvelous, Inc.
Partnered with GameBCN

iGi indie game incubator (iGi iggy) is Japan's first online incubation program launched in February 2021 with the goal to offer support and guidance to local indie game developers in Japan.

iGi is based on another incubation program, GameBCN, which has been successfully fostering excellent indie game development teams since 2015. Mentors in iGi include renowned Japanese indie game developers, ie. "Edelweiss" the developer of "Sakura: Of Rice and Ruin", and experts in various fields.

The incubatees receive training in game production planning, management, marketing planning, media relations, multilingual support, legal matters and pitch training.
